

EDUCATOR SELF EVALUATION

- Will I teach this unit again?
  - What worked well?
  - Which three sources did I find most helpful when working with students?
  - What two sources could you not have lived without?
  - What source, or type of source, was successful that I'd never had a student use before?
  - What did students have difficulty doing properly that I may need to spend more time teaching them about?
  - What part of the research journal was most useful to me when helping students through the process? To students? To evaluation?
  - What did I do very well this time?
  - What was my favorite experience?
  - What aspect of instruction did I do successfully? Which aspect of instruction do I need to improve?
  - Which community resources were most helpful and accommodating?
-
- Was there enough time to plan?
  - Was the instructional time appropriate? Too much? Too little?
  - Was there enough collaborative planning time?
  - What did we do well? What do we need to do better?
  - How well did I work with my collaborative partner (teacher, media specialist)?
  - What did I learn about myself when planning collaboratively?

The books were:	helpful	a little helpful	no help
The Internet was:	helpful	a little helpful	no help
Collaborative planning was:	helpful	a little helpful	no help
Non-Traditional Resources were:	helpful	a little helpful	no help
Resources in our Community were:	helpful	a little helpful	no help
My organization skills were:	okay	better than usual	my best
My ability to team was:	okay	better than usual	my best