- Can identify web author or owner? Is the author clearly listed along with any credentials that would identify expertise in the area.
- Date site published or updated? The date that the information was updated is easy to find (usually located in an “About us” section or on the page itself).
- Source Expertise? Does the author have the necessary background to provide information on the topic? How do you know?
- Information is verified by other source? Can you find similar information in another source?
- Factual? What descriptive language does the author use? Does the author provide an unbiased view of the subject?
